PROBLEM STATEMENT

In today's digital world, students and professionals need a personal platform to showcase their skills, education, and projects. Without a portfolio, it becomes difficult to present achievements and abilities to potential employers, mentors, or collaborators.

PROJECT OVERVIEW

This project is about designing and developing a personal portfolio website for Gowtham J. The website highlights personal details such as About Me, Education, Skills, Languages, and Projects.

It is created using HTML and CSS with a clean and modern design. The portfolio acts as a digital resume, helping to showcase academic background, technical skills, and future projects in an organized way.

END USERS

END USERS

The primary end users of our portfolio project are students, job seekers, and professionals who want to showcase their skills. Recruiters and hiring managers are the secondary end users who can quickly view the candidate's profile and achievements through the portfolio.
